

Craig E. Gossman

AIA, NCARB

PRINCIPAL

Craig has over 40 years of experience in urban design, planning, historic preservation and architecture.

He has worked with a variety of clients including city & county municipalities, retail and commercial center developers, and historic property owners. For 15 years, Craig served as a Principal Partner with Kinzelman Kline Gossman [KKG] and later in the same capacity with MKSK. In 2013 Craig founded Gossman Group design & planning in order to pursue combined architecture & urban design work with select clients.

Craig employs a holistic approach to strategic planning and design by considering the balance between social and economic goals and their impact on physical design, for long-term sustainability and timeless placemaking. He has developed strategic vision plans, urban revitalization plans and master plans for numerous communities and mixed-use projects. Craig brings creative problem-solving solutions to his clients for the challenges of urban repositioning and economic restructuring.
